

Could you change someone's life this summer?

Nuffield Research Placements - inspire the next generation and get help with one of your projects

Nuffield Research Placements provide talented and highly motivated post-16 students with the opportunity to work with scientists, technologists, engineers and mathematicians over a 4-6 week period in the summer.

The programme is run by the Nuffield Foundation and works through our regional network of coordinators to link gifted students with organisations undertaking research and development, including universities, commercial companies, charities and research institutes throughout the UK.

Providing a placement gives you the chance to share your expertise, gain mentoring experience and make progress with a project.

"An extra pair of hands on a project is always useful – our students did very well and some of their work may be published."
